Bring your friends, for Craig Della Penna's great slide show about the rail trails of New England and to learn about the next one for our local pleasure: the Cochituate Rail Trail in Natick and Framingham!

After years of waiting, the last train has left and negotiations are under way to change the old Saxonville Industrial Railroad to a wonderful linear park.

This greenway will have downtown Natick and the commuter rail at its south end, historic Saxonville at its north end, Natick Mall and Cochituate State Park in its middle, and LOTS of connectivity to other trails, stores, offices and residential areas. An audience question and answer period will follow. For more information, contact Dick Miller at 508-653-6136, via email at TheMillers@millermicro.com or visit the CRT project website at <http://www.millermicro.com/crt.html>.

This program is presented at no cost and is open to all. The Morse Institute Library is located in downtown Natick, one block east of the intersection of Routes 27 and 135.
